

Native Grill & Wings Installs Kitchen of the Future, Expands Franchising

The commercial kitchen of today is one where innovative equipment automates the cooking process. Native Grill & Wings is leading the way in kitchen innovation by utilizing the Middleby Marshall/CTX Kitchen of the Future. This enables the restaurants to provide outstanding, consistent food and superior service to customers while decreasing labor in the kitchen.

“The Kitchen of the Future makes it possible for our locations to deliver great tasting, consistent food to our customers twice as fast and reduced consistency issues as a whole. Installing Kitchen of the Future has changed our business and has measurably improved service in both the front and back of the house,” said Dan Chaon, CEO of Native Grill & Wings.

With thirty restaurants and growing, Native Grill & Wings was recently named a “Future 50” by Restaurant Business Magazine for Top Restaurant Franchises.

Mr. Chaon was introduced to the concept of the Kitchen of the Future after learning about Chili’s installation of the new cooking equipment in all of their U.S. locations. “The Kitchen of the Future return on investment is justified and pays off quickly while support from Middleby Marshall is second to none,” he added. “Wings, burgers, sandwiches, flatbread, appetizers and pizzas are all cooked on this unit perfectly every time.”

Winner of the “Best Wings” award more than twenty times, Native Grill & Wings, consistently receives outstanding customer feedback and is actively franchising new restaurants.
